Question "how does the attack on Johnny affect the boys "

In the book 'The Outsiders' a boy named Johnny is attacked by a rival gang called the Socs. In this essay I am going to explain how the attack on Johnny has affected the whole gang and friends of Johnny both emotionally and physically.

We learn the attack was dreadful from the reaction from each of the gang members. All we know the attack was awful because there was blood on Johnny's clothes and there were marks from where he had been punched from rings from one the Socs. "His white t-shirt was splattered with blood."

Sodapop was the first to reach Johnny after he had been attacked. Sodapop was gentle and calm, in making the situation better rather than worse. "The way Johnny looks there goes now" This shows how Sodapop acts as Johnny's fatherly figure as Johnny really doesn't have one at home.

Ponyboy arrives second. Sodapop is sick to his stomach and terrified to what the Socs have done. "I just stood there trembling with sudden cold". This shows how the attack on Johnny was particularly brutal and how bad it affected Johnny.

Steve arrived third and was immediately felt sick. "Steve closed his eyes and muffled a groan". This shows that Steve is kind of shy in his mind "oh no".

The last of the gang arrived fourth and was not as calm as usually. "And for once his usual grin was gone and his dancing eyes were staring". This is another sign to show that the attack was bad because even if he had been happy even in a bad situation.

Dally arrived fifth and had the worst reaction of all. Dally was there to and was swearing under his breath and turning away sick expression on his face. This shows that he is extremely bad because dally had seen people killed on the streets of New York and remained unaffected. This proves how Johnny was affected physically.

Barry came fourth. Barry had seen or from the park and ran toward as suddenly sliding to a halt. This shows that the attack was so bad that if you saw it you would just stop.
